

Improving Employee Wellness in Compliance with the ADA and GINA

Employee Wellness Plans are emerging, dynamic benefits employers may use to manage costs, boost morale, and attract qualified employees. But if implemented or developed improperly, these plans may easily run afoul of the Americans with Disabilities Act, Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act, and a variety of other federal statutes. This presentation will assist employers in their development of Employee Wellness Programs while avoiding financial and legal liability.

Please join us for a substantive discussion of these issues and how they may impact your business.
